APPLICATIONS

PRODUCTION

In application development, it is important taking your production setup into account. Elements such as pumping properties, cooking time, and mixing equipment can / will influence the choice of binders, aromas, and texturizers.

BINDERS

In most applications, it is necessary to use binders or bindings systems. The most used is methyl cellulose. Binders react differently depending on the composition and the way it is treated.

TASTE

Taste is king! Flavors, maskers, or enhancers are crucial for how food is experienced.

PRODUCTION

BINDERS

FAT & OILS

TEXTURE

COLOR

FAT & OILS

Fat and oils help you increase and optimize taste and mouthfeel. It can prevent lump formations and help create a crust.

TEXTURE

Texturized pea proteins replicate meat fibers and help you reach the same nutritional values as in meat. Adding other textures, such as rice or oat flakes, may optimize the chewing experience
